DETAILED ACTION

1. Due to a newly found reference, the previously indicated allowability of claim 38 has been withdrawn. Examiner regrets the inconvenience this might create to the applicant.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claim 38 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Moteki et al., U.S. 6,243, 645.

Considering claim 38, Moteki et al. discloses an audio-video output device and car navigation system. The system provides an audio-video output device that can simultaneously output video and audio information from multiple input sources and which can constantly display the video or audio information from one of these sources. (See, Abstract of the disclosure, Figs. 1, 5, 6-9) The user may select to display either a single screen or two screens (meeting the claimed selecting a single-screen display mode or multi-screen display mode). The display state of the character information such as the navigation, manual, video etc are changed (as shown in the various drawing in Figs. 6-9) with respect to the selected single screen or dual screen mode display. Thus, Moteki discloses all claimed subject matter as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 12-34, 39 are allowed.
